

Functional coatings with next generation of precious metals inks

Topic: Application technology

Abstrakt:

OrelTech is an innovation leader and expert in metallization and functional surface coating.

They are one of the leading innovators and experts in metallization liquids. Through years of research and development, they created a range of outstanding metal coating products that add functional layers to printed electronics, medical devices, and other high-tech products and industrial applications – while producing less waste and consuming up to 95% less energy during the process!

Names of the speaker:

First name: Natalia

Last name: Dr. Zamoshchik